Toledo Firm Named Agent

Council Votes 4-3 To Proceed With Sewer Bond Sale

The long delayed action on the sale of mortgage revenue bonds to help finance the proposed $750,000 sewage plant addition was initiated last night when City Council, by a four to three vote, passed a resolution declaring the city's intention to proceed with the project.

The action also authorized the Toledo bond firm of Ryan and Sutherland to act as fiscal agent for the city and to deal with City Auditor Helen Coyne in preparing the preliminary work for the sale of the bonds.

Firm to Submit Bid

However, the measure does not give the firm the right at this time to sell the $350,000 worth of bonds. It merely authorizes the firm to lay the ground work and then submit a bid to Council. If the bid is rejected the city will have the option of putting the bonds up for sale on the open market.

Leading the objections of the three Republican councilmen who voted against the resolution, R. M. Linder said that he favored receiving competitive bids rather than negotiating with one firm.

Councilman William Stark replied that the city would be under no obligation to the Toledo firm and that if its interest rate was considered too high by Council, the city could put the bonds up for sale, allowing them to go to the bidder with the lowest interest rate.

Measure Had Been Tabled

The measure had been tabled at the Aug. 3 meeting of Council when representatives of two other bond houses, Braun, Bosworth and Company of Toledo and McDonald and Company of Cleveland, protested naming the Pittsburgh company of Singer, Dean and Scribner exclusive agents.

In ther Council action members voted unanimously to:

1. Transfer $100 from the sidewalk repair fund to the civil defense fund.

2. Transfer $10,000 from the auto license fund to the payroll fund.

3. Appropriate $587.44 for payment to the Columbiana St. Garage of Leetonia for payment of oil the city used on streets.

4. Transfer $357.22 from the new cruiser fund to the maintenance of equipment and supplies fund.

5. Designate E. Pershing St. from Ellsworth Ave. to Lincoln Ave. and 2nd St. from Lincoln to Jennings Ave. one-way streets. Pershing for easbtound and 2nd for westbound vehicles had been designated one-way thoroughfares by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer to ease the traffic congestion presented by the State St. project, and Council's action will give police the right to arrest offenders.

6. Transfer a total of $7,835 from one fund to another within the wat-

N. Y. Democrats Pick Harriman

Quickly Nominated Over Roosevelt Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Averell Harriman was nominated for governor by the Democratic party early today and he began immediately to map out plans for a vigorous campaign.

The wealthy 62-year-old former Republican who became a top official of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, easily defeated Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. on the first ballot after one of the most acrimonious state conventions in the history of the party.

The remainder of the ticket was to be selected today, and the two-day convention will close tonight with a formal acceptance speech by Harriman.

Ives Seen Nominee

The Republican state convention is expected to nominate U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives for governor tomorrow.

John A. Ulinsky, Buffalo parks commissioner, was reported holding the inside track for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Roosevelt conceded defeat shortly after 1 a.m. when Harriman had rolled up 541 votes to the congressman's 217. A majoity of 510 was needed.

Onondaga County's 22 votes put Harriman over the top, 531 to 213. At that point in the rollcall, Roosevelt strode to the platform. He had been in an anteroom of the convention hall—the 165th Regiment Armory—with his wife and mother, Enrollments at other schools are: Knox Local 638; West Local, 388; United Local, 707; Calcutta, 575; Clarkson, 58; Elkton, 255; Oak Grove, 63; Rogers, 167; West Point 228; Summitville, 136; Negley, 187; Unity, 232; Wayne, 168; Highlandtown 147; Number 16, 140; and Fairview, 181.

First Touch Of Frost May Occur Tonight

There is a slight chance of frost in northern Ohio tonight, the weatherman said today.

The mercury touched 48 degrees in Salem last night and gale-like winds added to the discomfort of those outside.

It'll be fair and warmer tomorrow, the weather forecasters said.

Retarded Child Group Planned

Meeting At School Scheduled Monday

A public meeting to discuss the plans of the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Room 209 of the high school.

Ben Warner, chairman of the East Liverpool Kiwanis Club committee sponsoring the movement which plans to provide education for youths who find difficulty in learning under the normal public school system, will discuss with interested Salem parents plans made by the county council.

According to national mental health groups, a retarded child is one with a mental deficiency who is incapable of being schooled with normal children. This condition, they point out, is not to be confused with the mentally ill or insane; they are two different conditions entirely.

Mental health authorities say that the mind of the mentally sick sometimes can be restored, but the mentally retarded never had a normal mind and cannot be given one

Under a new state law, special classes for retarded children can be established through the cooperation of the state, county and local boards of education where there is shown a need and a request for the classes.

Teachers with special training conduct practical courses of study, fitted to the slower child's capabilities. He is taught simplified lessons in reading, writing and arithmetic and other basic courses. Handwork and manual training have given many retarded children

4 More Interviewed For Lisbon Position

LISBON — Four more applicants for the position of superintendent of schools were interviewed at a special session of the Lisbon Board of Education Tuesday night.

Fifteen applications have been received from which a replacement for V. J. Ullman, who resigned, will be selected.

Mrs. Margaret Maturen of 251 W. Pine St. was hired as a parttime general science teacher. A University of Wisconsin graduate, she has been employed at the Leper Library.

Driver training was crossed from the curriculum for the school year because of the unavailability of an instructor. The former teacher, Billie McFarren, left to accept a coaching position.

Red China Again Fails In Attempt For Seat In U. N.

Van Kleffens Elected Assembly President; To Vote On 14 Posts

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The ninth U.N. General Assembly turned to election of seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen this morning after an opening session which sidetracked the annual Communist bid to seat Red China.

Five of the vice presidencies under U.N. rules go to the "Big Five" permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China.

Burma and Ecuador were slated for the other two on a geographical rotation basis.

As expected before the session's opening, Dr. Eelco N. van Kleffens, Netherlands minister to Portugal, was elected Assembly president yesterday after the shelving of the Red China issue.

Adopted 43-11

The resolution putting off action on Russia's proposal to seat Red China was proposed yesterday by the United States. The Asembly adopted it 43-11. It was the third straight year the Assembly has taken such action.

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, as outgoing Assembly president, called yesterday's session to order. She noted the end of the Indochina war and said she hoped the ninth Assembly too would "promote the cause of peace."

Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky then introduced a resolution to have the Assembly say it "considers it necessary that the representative of the Chinese People's Republic, appointed by the Central People's Government, should take the rightful seat of China in the General Assembly and in other organs of the United Nations."

Vishinsky held that the U.N. would be hampered otherwise, and that the Peiping government had shown itself to be peace-loving at the Geneva conference and in Premier Chou En-lai's June talks with India and Burma. The Soviet diplomat called it intolerable that the "Kuomintang group," as he termed Chiang Kai-shek's representatives, held China's place in the U.N.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. permanent representative to the U.N., replied while Secretary of State Dulles listened.

Lodge moved that the Assembly decide not to consider at this 1954 session "any proposals to exclude representatives of the government of the Republic of China or to seat representatives of the Central People's Government."

Then the American moved that the Assembly vote on his proposal before Vishinsky's, a motion approved 45-7.

Goshen Board, Citizens Discuss $158,000 School Bond Issue

The Goshen Board of Education met last night in Goshen High School with three board members present and 20 persons present representing interested voters who were invited by the board and Supt. C. G. Long to discuss the $158,000 bond issue which will appear on the ballot at the November election.

The bonds would provide "for erecting and equipping seven fireproof rooms within the district to be used for school purpose, $128,000 for construction and $29,000 for equipment and $1,000 for the purchase of land in the sum of $158,000 and a levy of taxes be made outside the 10 mill limitation estimated by the County Auditor to average 2.024 mills for each one dollar of valuation for a maximum period of 21 years to pay the principal and interest of such bonds."

Board President Robert Dickson pointed out that the bond issue is not a personal promotion of the board or of the faculty and those present should appraise it with them on its merits. He said that the bond issue, as stated, does not say how the board will spend the money, but he listed a six-point program which the board has adopted in order of their importance; first, bleachers; second, building at Goshen Center; third, shop addition; fourth, dressing rooms; fifth, study hall, and sixth, kitchen.

The Goshen Board has placed an order for the purchase of bleachers to seat 700 people at $4 a seat pending the passage of the bond issue for shipment and payment.

Tentative plans for building at the Goshen Center school includes two classrooms of regular size, one double-sized classroom with a small stage and a new kitchen for their cafeteria, all to be built east of the present school building.

The $1,000 for land is to cover a six-month option of 33 feet of land to the east of the present school boundary which would be required for the new building a portion of which would be back of the existing Township house.

The shop addition at Goshen Union would be to convert a space between the existing shop and the lobby of the new gymnasium into

Clinic Delays Job Contracts

Bids Found High On Proposed Addition

Awarding of contracts for the construction of a new addition to the Salem Central Clinic and Hospital was delayed Tuesday when bids, opened yesterday were found to be much higher than anticipated.

Hospital Superintendent Albert Hanna explained that the architect's estimate was $70,000 for the new annex and equipment. Low bids received ran, collectively, $79,619.

The Riley Construction Co. submitted a low general contract bid of $50,650; Salem Plumbing and Heating a low plumbing bid of $23,898 and Firestone Electric a $5,071 bid on electrical work.

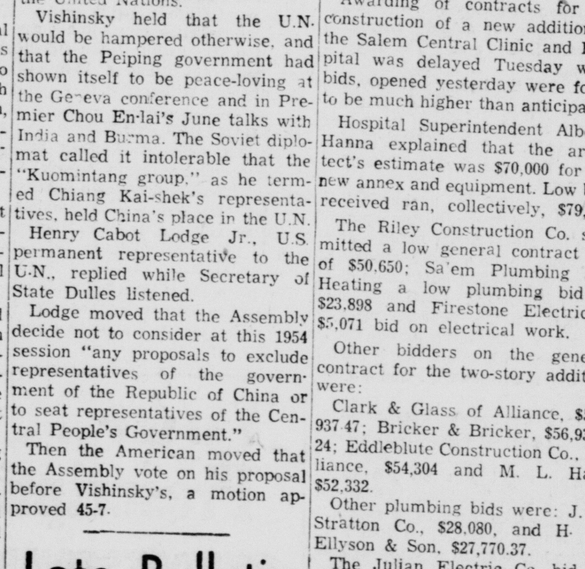

Other bidders on the general contract for the two-story addition were:

Clark & Glass of Alliance, $56,937.47; Bricker & Bricker, $56,931.24; Eddleblute Construction Co., Alliance, $54,304 and M. L. Hans $52,332.

Other plumbing bids were: J. R. Stratton Co., $28,080, and H. M. Ellyson & Son, $27,770.37.

The Julian Electric Co. bid on the electrical work on a "cost plus" basis.

Hanna said the board has taken the bids under advisement but that it is hoped that work can be started in the near future.

Official Cited For Sale Of Insurance To Pike Builders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state auditor's report on the Ohio Turnpike Commission today claimed contractors building the Northern Ohio Turnpike bought 50 million dollars worth of insurance from two firms represented by a law firm headed by the commission chairman.

The commission chairman, James W. Shocknessy, immediately termed the report "utterly false" and accused the state auditor of indulging in a "whispering camptign of slur and slander."

The state auditor is James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor. His opponent in the election campaign is incumbent Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the Democrat who appointed Shocknessy to his turnpike job.

The report made public by the state auditor's office lists what it calls "improper transactions of commission agents" regarding sales of land near the 241 - mile turnpike.

The report was prepared by Donald C. Cook, supervising auditor for turnpike audits in Rhodes' office. Copies today went to Lausche, the Turnpike Commission the attorney general, C. William O'Neill, and clerks of both Houses of the General Assembly.

The Republican - controlled Legislature ordered the audit which covers the period from September 1949 to the end of 1953. The work so far, which has required the efforts of from two to 11 persons, has cost $45,000.

The audit says that, as of last Aug. 1, land costs were nearly 7 million dollars above the original estimate.

Evidence Of Irregularities Charged Overlooked

"The excess," it says, ". . . may be traced in part to the improper conduct of some of the agents of the commission. The supervision of the acquisition of right of way by the commission and the consulting engineer did not disclose the existing irregularities was overpears to your examiner that evidence of irregularities was overlooked or condoned by the commission."

In the insurance audit, the report quoted Shocknessy as saying at a commission meeting the commission has no interest in who sells insurance, as long as the company is licensed in Ohio.

Then it says the Standard Accident Insurance Co. wrote $20,701,717 worth of insurance and the U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co. $26,715,173. The law firm of Shocknessy, Summers & Denton is special counsel for both companies and Shocknessy is senior partner of the firm, the report alleged.

Shocknessy denied having anything to do with the insurance companies and retorted by releasing a letter he says he wrote Sept. 20 to Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, ret., executive director of the commission.

It said in part:

". . . The auditor of state is spreading abroad in a whispering campaign of slur and slander and may allege in his formal report of the audit of the Turnpike Commission . . . . that a large portion of surety bonds furnished the commission by contractors to the commission guaranteeing the performance of their contracts are written by companies, namely United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. and Standard Accident Insurance Co., for which the chairman of the commission or a law firm of which he is a member is counsel.

"The statement wherever made is utterly false.'

Firm Denies Shocknessy Represents Them

Included with the letter were two photostatic copies of letters to the commission from both companies. Fidelity said neither Shocknessy or his firm is now representing or has ever represented them.

Standard said the company never has employed Shocknessy but retained John H. Summers on a matter in 1946 that was concluded in 1950.

Shocknessy said he practices law "in association" with Summers, Florence G. Denton and Howard M. Metzenbaum under the common name of Shocknessy, Summers & Denton. He said the association does not practice as a partnership nor jointly.

"The report speaks for itself,' Cook wrote in a letter accompanying his report to Rhodes. "It suggests the urgent necessity for remedial action in many particulars.'

A spokesman in the auditor's office said this type of audit is new for the department and the attorney general will be asked "to determine standards for expense accounts and the possibility of criminal action involved, if any."

One section of the report said the J. E. Greiner Co., consulting engineer for the turnpike, originally estimated 2,200 parcels of land costing $11,223,000 would be needed for the turnpike. By Aug. 1, according to the report, land costs reached $17,769,628 — nearly 7 million dollars above the original estimate.

Practice Of Giving Payment Bonus Is Criticized

It hit at the commission practice of paying a 10 per cent bonus on the value of land as appraised to persons who settled promptly.

The bonus payments made up a large factor in the "excessive cost of right of way," the report said and claimed many persons were paid them even though the commission didn't get prompt possession.

A former G-man, Cook said there will be a final report when the turnpike is completed. Completion is scheduled for Oct. 1, 1955.

The audit so far went into salaries and expense accounts, financing of the original bond issue to finance construction, administrative and headquarters expenses, difficulties auditors had in getting records, insurance purchases, appraisal and title costs, right-of-way costs and "improper transactions of commission agents."

Land deals noted in the report include:

An employe of a contracting engineer purchasing land that the commission later purchased.

An appraiser sold the commission insurance on property acquired by the commission but used by a contractor.

A case at North Lima with the land price being determined sever-

Historical Group Plans For Sesqui

Holloway Is Chairman Of Marker Committee

COLUMBIANA — Plans for its participation in the Columbiana sesqui-centennial celebration in July next year, were discussed at a meeting of the trustees of the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township at the home of the president, Miss Leila Beard, Monday evening.

Leo Holloway was appointed chairman of a committee to place markers at historic spots for the celebration.

Miss Beard had kept a record of the attendance at the few meetings held since the society was organized, which showed a total of 350. The membership is 135, and new members are signing up for next year.

At the annual meeting of the society Monday evening, Oct. 11, four trustees will be elected for three years, terms of four of the 12 trustees expiring every year.

An additional trustee is to be elected this year to fill the remaining year of the term of William Knuth, former manager of Firestone Farms, who moved to Pennsylvania last spring.

Harold Barth, curator of the museum at East Liverpool, will be the speaker at the annual meeting.

DR. J. FRED ESSIG, assistant superintendent of Youngstown schools, emphasized the responsibility of teachers in the guidance of youth in his address at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Heck's Monday evening, when the teachers of Columbiana village and Fairfield Centralized Schools were club guests. There were 84 in attendance, including about 60 teachers.

The club makes this an annual event to show appreciation of the work of teachers and to help new ones to get acquainted. Superintendent D. W. Bailey introduced Columbiana teachers, and Superintendent T. V. Utterback, the Fairfield teachers. President William Furney presided and introduced the speaker.

Ladies night will be observed by the club next Monday, with Dr. C. W. Dewalt in charge of the program.

CHARLES ADAMS, who was to have shown a diamond cutting film at the meeting of the Rotary Club, Monday evening, was disappointed in its non-arrival, and obtained W. H. Matthews of Salem as the speaker.

Mr. Matthews spoke on the Lewis and Clark expedition to the west coast 150 years ago next year. On western trips, he had covered the route followed by William Clark and Meriwether Lewis on their expedition, and showed colored slides of historic points that figured in their toil and suffering.

Of the 28 soldiers in their command, only one failed to return with them 2½ years after they started.

Dr. Leonard Pritchard, a former Rotarian at Mercer, Pa., who has just located in Columbiana, was a guest of John Barrow. Visiting Rotarians were Robert Snyder and Victor Morgan, of Youngstown, and Fred Sonnedecker of Salem.

The program for next Monday evening is in charge of Russell Lindsay. Monday evening, Oct. 4, Edward Broughton of Ashtabula, governor of the 29th district of Rotary, will make his official visit to the Columbiana club.

TWENTY SEVEN were present for the September sewing of Columbiana Auxiliary of Salem Hospitals at the American Legion home Monday. Reports on the booth in the tent during the street fair and home-coming showed that 17 new members were added to the previous 300.

A benefit is planned for the last Saturday in October. At the sewing Monday, five dozen tray cloths and 45 small and 28 large surgical wrappers were hemmed. The auxiliary sews for both Salem hospitals.

Past Commander Theron G. Caldwell of Drexler Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, senior vice commander of the sixth district, and Mrs. Caldwell, past president of the post auxiliary, attended the district fall conference in Coshocton, Saturday and Sunday.

Members of the Columbiana Mothers' Club, meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Elmer Detwiler, Jr. of 49 West St., North, voted to help the High School Band with such funds as may be available. Twenty-five were present and heard Miss Connie Griffin, leader of Troop 4 Girl Scouts, speak on scouting. Mrs. William Stamets, Jr. was co-hostess.

BEN WEINGART of Letonia RD, president of Fairfield Ruritan Club, and Dr. F. S. Whiteleather of Minerva, president, and Frank Saffell, secretary, of the Columbiana County Independent Farmers of Ohio, were among 41 delegates from Ohio and Indiana who met at the Southern Hotel in Columbus Monday to consider the government farm program.

Frank Mannix of Greenville, president of the Independent Farmers of Ohio, who has exceeded his allotted wheat acreage, requested the State Agricultural Soil Conservation Department to bring suit against him to test the constitutionality of the agricultural adjustment act.

Mannix said the black market days of O.P.A. are returning with the enforcement of wheat marketing regulations.

It was learned at the A.S.C. office that difficulty is being met in finding local committeemen. The group decided that it would be of advantage to incorporate and preliminary steps are being taken toward that end.

Conrads Sail To Germany For Army Duty

LEETONIA — Col. and Mrs. Harold A. Conrad sailed from Port Hamilton, N.Y., Sept. 14 for Germany. Col. Conrad, the son of Mrs. Alvin Conrad, is a veteran of nearly 17 years military service. Upon their arrival in Germany, he will assume his new assignment with the Army Medical Service there.

The Past Matron Club of the Leetonia Chapter O.E.S. will be entertained Wednesday evening, Sept. 22, at the home of Mrs. Elby Morris. Mrs. Luther Lipp will be associate hostess.

The Past Noble Grand Club met at the home of Mrs. Rosa Cox, Monday evening. Card games were the diversion of the evening, with prizes won by Mrs. Raymond Baker and Mrs. Harry Klitz. The hostess served lunch.

The Silver Circle Society of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the church with Mrs. Paul Fiscus as hostess Thursday.

Mrs. Ella Coulson of Springfield was a recent visitor with her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis.

Mrs. John Beilhart Jr., and infant daughter, Heather Ann, have returned home from Salem City Hospital.

Judge Middleton Picked Appeal Courts Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge George S. Middleton of the Third District Court of Appeals was elected Chief Justice of the Ohio Courts of Appeals for 1955 at the annual meeting of the appeals court judges in the Supreme Court chambers Tuesday.

Judge Middleton will succeed Judge Robert B. Putnam of the Fifth District Court as chief justice.

Judge Amos L. Conn of the Sixth District Court of Appeals was elected secretary of the appeals courts for 1955, succeeding Judge Middleton.

Boy, 5, Saves Life Of Younger Brother, 4

BEVERLY, Mass (AP)—Alan Deschenes is only 5 years old, but he was credited today with saving the life of his 4 year old brother, David.

David fell into the Bass River yesterday while he and his brother played on a retaining wall.

Alan lay prone on the wall and grabbed his brother's clothing to hold his head above water.

Both screamed for help, but the screams were unheard for what was estimated later to be a half hour.

Finally, two workmen heard the screams and pulled David to safety.

Cigar Makers Don't Want Women's Business

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The nation's cigar makers would be just as happy if you ladies leave the cigars alone.

Bernard Sless, assistant to the president of the Cigar Institute of America, told a meeting yesterday the cigar business is doing good in strictly a man's field and added:

Nixon Challenges Stevenson To Offer 'Constructive' Ideas

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Vice President Nixon last night challenged Adlai E. Stevenson to offer "constructive" suggestions rather than "quips and criticisms" on the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon issued the challenge to the former Democratic presidential nominee in a major address at Michigan State College. It was billed as an administration reply to Stevenson's recent attack on Eisenhower policies.

Decrying what he called Stevenson's failure to offer "constructive suggestions," Nixon told an audience of 7,500 "under the circumstances we can only assume, as his (Stevenson's) national chairman admitted in answer to a question recently, that all a Democrati Congress offers is a return to the policies of the Truman administration.

"Until Mr. Stevenson tells the American people how he differs from those policies we shall have to continue to remind the people what those policies were."

The vice-president said the former Democratic nominee for the presidency would talk in Detroit Saturday and hoped that then Stevenson will say "how his policies and those of a Democrat Congress would differ from the policies of the Truman administration so that we can debate the issues of this campaign on policies of the present rather than the past."

Nixon made what he called a "point - by - point" reply to Stevenson.

He said Stevenson "criticizes the settlement in Indochina and what has happened to EDC (European Defense Community).

"I think he owes it to the American people as a spokesman for the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) wing of the Democrat party, to tell us honestly whether he believes the war in Korea ought not to have been ended, whether he believes American boys should hav been sent to Indochina, what he would do on EDC or the other problems on which he criticizes the Eisenhower administration.

Bunions On The Baby

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— I mustn't forget to drop into the drug store today.

Have to pick up some bunion pads for the baby. She learned to walk just four days ago, and at the rate she's going now her feet will be worn off clear up to the ankles by the end of the week.

Ever since Tracy Ann, accompanied by three spare diapers, moved into our house at the age of five weeks I have been looking forward to seeing her take her first step.

But she took her own sweet time about it. When she was a year old, she was still what is known as a "creeper" now—in the old days we called 'em crawlers. She did pull herself upright in her play pen. But after yawning, she sat down again.

I began to get worried. Why didn't she walk? Every parent I ran into setmed to have a baby that walked at 10 months, or 11 months or a year. One guy really drove me crazy. Said he'd heard of a case in which a mother and her baby, two weeks after birth, strolled out of the hospital hand-in-hand together, with the tired mother leaning for support on the shoulder of her sturdy infant. Funny fellow!

It was worse when Tracy Ann was 14 months old. Friends began telling of babies they know—"thoughtful babies"—who hadn't walked until they were two years or older.

I began reading magazine articles to Tracy on the values of walking as an exercise. I brought her home books called "Tramping Through Life" and "The Hiker's Manual."

She took the books seriously, digesting them a page at a time. She got so she preferred the books to her pablum. But she didn't even regard them as food for thought. Just food.

"Tracy, stand up—no hands," I pleaded. And Tracy, sitting squarely on her small rump, would giggle and hold up both hands—to show she wasn't holding on to anything. But when she did stand up, she grabbed at the nearest support like a guy going down for the third time. She could climb like a squirrel, but she wouldn't stand up by herself.

For some reason her heartless mother seemed completely unconcerned.

"Why won't you let the baby alone?" said Frances. "She'll be walking when she goes to school."

"I should hope so," I told her. "After all, nobody took me to kindergarten piggy-back. I wheeled there the first day on roller skates."

"Well, bully for you," murmured Frances. "Brave lad."

Miracles come into our lives in commonplace ways. The other day, shortly before Tracey's 15-month birthday, we were visiting friends, Pegg and John McKee.

Peggy put Tracy on her feet, and took away her hands. Tracy stood there a moment thoughtfully, took a hesitant step . . . then another . . . then another.

"Here, honey," I said, holding out my arms. But Tracy, like a wound up toy, made a mechanical left turn and moved away by herself . . step . . . step . . . step . . then kerplunk! — down she went. Put back on her feet, she went 25 steps before kerplunking again But she walked away from all the outstretched arms—she was going it alone! She wanted no more help.

Somehow it was as if I heard a bugle blowing in my heart. I felt like shooting off fireworks, and I wanted to cry, too. Everybody was excited but Tracy. She couldn't understand why everybody made such a sudden fuss over her.

"She knew she could walk whenever she wanted to," said Frances.

Ever since then Tracy has been tramp-tramp-tramping endlessly.

She worries me even more now that she has learned to walk. I get up at night and go in to her crib to set if she's walking in her sleep.

"Take it easy, Tracy," I tell her. "Lie down and rest. If you live to be 75, that means you'll be wearing shoes for nearly 74 years. Sit down now and take the weight off your feet—while you have the chance."

"All men are crazy," says Frances. "They never know what they really want from a girl."

Guess I'd better buy some corn pads, too. Be awful if the neighbors found out I had a 15-month old daughter with corns.

FIRE DAMAGES STORES

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A flash fire of undetermined origin struck a business block in downtown Athens Tuesda. Damage was estimated at $50,000 and was most extensive in a Gallaher drug store.

The picturesque thatched roofs of the English countryside are gradually giving way to slates, tiles and asbestos shingles.

Trumbull Gets Month To Show Sewage Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board today gave a three - man delegation from Trumbull County another month to prepare plans for treatment facilities for two sewer districts.

The delegation was called before the board to show why an application for a sewage - discharge permit renewal should not be denied. The permit for Brookfield sewer districts number one and two has been renewed twice and the last renewal expired June 1.

The delegation was composed of R. A. Stillwagon, county commissioner; Kenneth McNair, clerk of the commissioners and Harry L. Dittmer, county engineer.

Dittmer brought with him partly drawn general plans for treatment facilities and said he thought the plans would be finished in about a month when the commission meets again. At that time, he said, the county should have an estimate of the cost of sewage treatment facilities.

At one point in the meeting, Barton Holl, a commission board member, commented he felt it was about time "to get tough" in cases where nothing has been accomplished in relieving pollution. However, the board continued the Trumbull County case until its next meeting.

Claim Oppenheimer Delayed H-Bomb Work

Book Says U. S. A-Bombs Can Destroy Every Russian City

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new book says the United States could wipe out every city in the Soviet Union with a rain of atomic bombs today—and, within another year, could do the job with hydrogen bombs 30 times as destructive.

"The Hydrogen Bomb," a copyrighted book by Time Magazine staffers James R. Shepley and Clay Blair Jr., warns at the same time that "within only a few years or even less the Red Air Force "must be conceded the same capability against the United States.

Shepley and Blair say that "within another year after 1954" most of the bombs this country could drop in a mass raid would be H-bombs of at least 15 megatons' force—that is, the explosive power of 15 million tons of TNT.

This compares with the estimated 500 kiloton force of the biggest existing A-bombs — equivalent to 500,000 tons of TNT. The authors say the potential strength of the H-bomb is 45 megatons—45 million tons of TNT.

The Shepley - Blair book an abridgement of which appears in the current U. S. News & World Report magazine, says atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer actively opposed the hydrogen bomb more than a year after President Truman ordered work on the superweapon begun.

Oppenheimer, who has since been barred from atomic secrets, has testified before an Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) panel that he dropped his opposition to all-out H-bomb research once Truman gave the go-ahead on Jan. 31, 1950.

The authors say on this point:

"By mid-1952, the vigorous pattern of activity on the part of J. R. Oppenheimer over the years, regarding both the hydrogen bomb and the strategic air concept had aroused the genuine concern of a small handful of officials in Washington."

In Princeton, N. J., Oppenheimer had no comment, saying he hadn't seen the book.

The book, soon to be published by David McKay Co. Inc. of New York, says there is no evidence that Dr. Oppenheimer took "overt action' to persuade scientists at the government's Los Alamos weapons labroatory "to strike against the President's decision" but that "there seems to be no question that his opposition . . . was sufficient to produce a widespread reaction."

Churchill Faces Fight On Reich

Laborites May Seek To Halt Rearming

LONDON (AP) — Britain's bipartisan approach to rearming West Germany is threatened.

The Churchill government has enough strength in Parliament to make any plan stick—but not necessarily without a bitter fight.

Brewing within the opposition Labor party is a strange mixture carrying ingredients for a potential headache.

Former Labor Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, returning home from a visit to Red China, faces a revolt in his own party over the German issue.

Labor party policy makers—led by Attlee—have gone along with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in favor of arming the Germans in the West Europe defense setup.

A serious challenge to this policy has arisen among Laborites. It is sparked by the Bevanites, but not confined to them.

The showdown comes at the Labor party's annual conference opening at Scarborough Sept. 27—by coincidence the day before the nine-power confab on Germany gets underway in London

Trade unions form the hard core of the party, holding a 5-1 margin over the constituency parties—the district committees—in delegate votes at the convention. And the Giant Trades Union Congress (TUC) two weeks ago went on record in favor of limited rearmament of West Germany—but by a majority of only 455,000 card votes out of a total of more than 7½ million recorded.

The situation won't be exactly the same at the Labor party conference, however. For the unions which supported German rearmament will have about 900,000 fewer votes then, while the unions which opposed arming the Germans will have ony about 400,000 fewer votes.

The Moscow radio cheered the TUC vote as a "rejection of the policy of right wing leaders."

A year ago the Laborite conference approved a resolution approving German rearmament—but only after an attempt had been made first to reach an agreement with the Russians on unifying Germany.

Attlee took the view that this condition was fulfilled by the Big Four Berlin conference in January which failed. Then he came out for bringing Germany into the Western defense setup.

There have been suggestions in the British press that Attlee may contend that French rejection of the European army plan has changed the situation.

Friends doubt this, however, for Herbert Morrison, one of Atlee's closest political collaborators, has called for limited German rearmament since then.

Some political observers think Attlee—71-year-old master at political timing—may plead for time before committing the party to any definite new policy in the hope the nine-power conference can work out a solution.

Attlee's leadership appears at stake, with Bevan, 54, making a double assault in his bid for ultimate control of the party. Along with leading the attack against German rearmament, the Welsh ex-coalminer is running for party treasurer against Hugh Gaitskell, who is backed by Attlee.

Gaitskell is a strong favorite, but Bevan could offset defeat in the treasurer's race and demonstrate his pulling power if he succeeds in reshaping party policy to his own pattern on the German issue.

BRIDGE TO SPAN MACKINAC STRAITS.—This is an air view looking north toward Michigan's Upper Peninsula showing foundations for the main piers of the Mackinac Bridge under construction. The piers will hold the world's longest suspension span, 8,600 feet long, to be constructed during the next two years at a cost of nearly 80 million dollars. The bridge will span the Straits off Mackinac from Mackinaw City (lower right) to St. Ignace, Mich., (upper left).

Governor Gets Reward Distribution Problem

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Citizens and Southern National Bank of South Carolina yesterday handed Gov. James F. Byrnes a $2'500 problem.

The bank has a standing offer of a $2,500 reward for the capture of bank robbers. Recently two robbers were caught but an estimated 150 persons took up the chase soon after the robbery and captured the pair.

The distribution of the money is now the state's problem.

Bold Jailbreak Attempt Halted

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A bold attempt to break out of Cabell County jail was thwarted by police last night in 22 action-packed minutes.

The would-be jail breakers used a heavy steel table leg to pry open an inner cell door on the fifth floor. When Deputy Jailer Lakin Rowsey and a trusty prisoner opened an outer door, they were pounced on and tossed into a cell.

Rowsey's call for help was heard by Jailer William Moses on the ground floor. Moses telephoned for reinforcements, then rushed to the elevator.

When encountered by the armed Moses, the prisoners shut the elevator door and started up again. Moses ordered another trusty to cut off the electric power and the elevator stopped between the first and second floors.

Using controls in the jail office, Moses brought the elevator back to the first floor and the six stepped out under gunpoint. One tried to run but was subdued with a mace.

Man With 6 Children Marries Girl, 14

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Alvey G. Whitmer, 38-year-old widower with six children and his 14-year-old bride face charges today, she of being a delinquent; he with contributing to her delinquency by marrying her.

Whitmer has six children who range in age from 7 to 15—a year older than his bride, the former Mattie Pearl Herrin.

Deputy Sheriff Leister Isanogle said Whitmer acknowledged marrying the girl in Arlington, Va., last Monday.

Authorities released him on $500 bail but held his bride while they considered her plight.

Passersby Save Life Of Man Who Lost Arms

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Two passersby were credited with saving the life of John Vangelist, 23, yesterday after both his arms were amputated in a factory cutting machine accident.

Vangelist dashed out of the factory onto a busy thoroughfare and had to be knocked down by John Beaver, 32, of Lynn, and Leo McKenney, 27, of Swampscott, so they could apply tourniquets.

Doctors at Lynn Hospital said their prompt action probably saved Vangelist from bleeding to death.

Man Finds His WW I Hat In Pageant Show

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — City Clerk Harold Fisher was issued a uniform for his role in the "World War I" scene of the Lawrence Centennial Pageant.

The old style campaign hat fitted perfectly. Inside it Fisher found the initials he placed in a hat issued to him by the Army in 1918.

Fisher doesn't know how the hat got into the costume department of the John B. Rogers Co. that is staging the pageant, but he is sure it is his old hat.

Flank Attack By Socialism

Many Americans realized the similarity between British socialists and Chinese Communists for the first time when Clement Attlee, Aneurin Bevan and other Labor party leaders visited Peiping.

Britons discovered it long ago. In the British Labor party, once dominated by moderates like Attlee, the struggle for power now is between moderates and radicals like Bevan, whose views are the same as the views of Communists.

In a speech to the Manufacturers Association of Connecticut Tuesday night, Benjamin F. Fairless pointed out the folly of fighting Communists at the front door while socialism creeps in the back door.

"I am not speaking in partisan terms," said the chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp. "I am speaking of those members of both political parties who would lead our nation even further down the road to state socialism — the men who seek always to expand the powers of central government to increase the federal deficit, to enlarge the subsidy program, and to impose crippling burdens upon every form of industrial enterprise."

The free enterprise system, Fairless declared, belongs to the people — the only system in which management and labor can share the rewards of efficient production. In the presidential election of 1952, creepng socialism was given a setback in the United States. In the congressional elections of 1954, the creeping socialists are attempting a comeback.

Contrary to misleading assurances that local issues will determine the outcome of the 1954 elections, in the opinion of Fairless, the overriding issue is whether or not to bar the back door to socialism while defending the front door against Communists.

Will New York Find A Way

The bingo controversy that has grown up in New York state's partisan politics, with both parties talking about legalizing this particular form of gambling for vote-getting pruposes, may produce a solution to a tough problem.

But it is doubtful if New York has any more insight into this problem than any other state has had If it legalized bingo, hoping to get rid of the problem that way, it would create a bigger problem eventually New York legalized off-track gambling on horse races and got so clubby with the horse race crowd that even the Dewey administration, which had been comparatively clean, found money sticking to official fingers

That is the problem money. Where large amounts of money are involved, large operators in the illegal business of organized vice always move in and take over

Bingo is an easy-money gambling game. For obscure reasons, it enjoys a shabby respectability among many members of organizations that are chronically in need of money. People who wouldn't think of milcting the public with a shell game or a cut-throat game of stud poker see nothing wrong with fleecing suckers in a bingo game.

When they do it on a small scale, there's no real immorality invo'ved But when bingo ceases to be on a small scale, it draws big operators in organized vice like a lemon meringue pie draws flies at a picnic That's when the trouble starts and the real immorality.

If New York's politicians can figure out how to keep licensed bingo out of the clutches of the racketeers, the whole country will be interested, including neighboring New Jersey where bingo has been legalized by referendum, to the utter joy and delight of the racketeers who are trying to get it legalized in New York to

Seven Ways To Make Money

The most realistic part of political realism is the technique of making financial ends meet It takes money. In 1948 when Harry Truman was "giving 'em hell" from the back platform of a campaign train, someone had to pay for the train — and Truman money was hard to find that year. Sometimes the train was "laid over" until cash was forthcoming.

One result of the Maine election, which indicated there might be trouble ahead for Republican candidates, may well be easier access to campaign money by Democrats Arthur Krock of The New York Times pointed out this possibility recently in connection with a listing of seven categories of campaign contributors. These are:

"The ever loyal, the selfishly disappointed, the honestly disillusioned, the selfishly expectant, the fence-sitters who look for signs that it is safe to come down, those whose spiritual needs are served by being on the winner and those who find it thrifty to give help to both sides."

Much of the knowledge Mr Krock has gained by observing politics since 1907 obviously has been summarized in his category of contributors.

Case In Point

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Defiance Of Obstructionists Gave U. S. H-Bomb

How the United States almost lost the hydrogen bomb and how Soviet Russia might have been way ahead today in the production of superbombs if it were not for the determination of Dr. Edwin Teller, the noted scientist, is told in a new book which tells also how important it is for the chairman of a Senate committee not to be denied important information, even of a secret character, by an executive agency of the government.

James R. Shepley, head of the Washington Bureau of Time Magazine, and his associate in the bureau, Clay Blair, Jr, have revealed much unpublished data in their book which has just been published in part in a copyrighted article in U. S. News & World Report, with the permission of the book publishers, the David McKay Co., of New York.

For the first time the detailed marrative of how J. Robert Oppenheimer sought by various moves to stop the building of the H-bomb is set forth, together with the dramatic facts concerning the heroic part played in that struggle behind the scenes by Sen. McMahon, as chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

INDEED IF IT had not been for Sen. McMahon's defiance of the obstructive tactics encountered among the scientists working for the Atomic Energy Commission and particularly those of Dr. Oppenheimer, who had a tremendous influence over his fellow scientists, it is doubtful whether as much progress with the superbombs would have been made in a critical period in American history.

The Atomic Energy Commission itself in 1949 stood 3 to 2 against developing the H-bomb. The general advisory committee of scientists met on Oct. 29 of that year and recommended against building the H-bomb. Dr. Teller, now known as the father of the H-bomb, was the key man on whom Sen. McMahon and Lewis Straus, now chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission but then in the minority on the commission, depended for scientific advice. The Shepley-Blair book, which will be published on Sept. 30, says at this point:

"McMahon urged Teller to fly East immediately to help the proponents of the H-bomb meet the statistically powerful arguments of the nearly unanimous General Advisory Committee. Teller agreed and hurried to Albuquerque to take a plane east. He went via Chicago, stopped briefly to try to persuade his old friend, General Advisory Committee member (Enrico) Fermi to suppot the H-bomb. Fermi was cool, refused to tell Teller of the contents of the General Advisory Committee report.

WHILE HE WAS in Fermi's office, Dr. John Manley, associate director of Los Alamos (and, as such, Teller's boss) and secretary of the General Advisory Committee, telephoned him. Manley was in Washington. He insisted that Teller drop his plan to see McMahon.

"Teller asked his reason, and Manley replied that it was important that the scientists maintain a united front against the H-bomb. It would be unfortunate, Manley argued, if the powerful Senate committee chairman got the impression that there was a division of opinion among the scientists. He insisted that Teller should not come to Washington.

"'I am willing to call Senator McMahon,' said Teller, 'and tell him that I have been asked not to see him and for that reason I would not see him.'

"'All right,' snapped Manley, 'you better go ahead and see him"

The reader can imagine what kind of an answer Dr. Teller would have gotten if the Senate of the United States had formally proclaimed that the chairman of any Senate committee must be "censured' if he appeals to employes of the executive agencies of the government to come privately to chairmen of committees specifically authorized by law to investigate governmental operations of all kinds and tell them the truth—whether or not it embraced secret information.

No information has been or is more secret or confidential than what's going on behind the scenes on atomic-energy developments.

TO SAY THAT the chairman of the Senate committee charged with the "watchdog" function by Congress itself must discourage all contacts with employes except through the regular channels of their superiors is to say that the system of checks and balances in the United States government which saved America from possible destruction from the H-bomb in the hands of Soviet Russia shall not function hereafter.

The McMahon-Teller relationship that could be revealed at this time is the most convincing rebuttal to those who argue, in effect, that the Congress is a secondary or subordinate institution and not a coordinate or equal part of the United States government.

On the record as revealed, did Sen. McMahon "encroach' on the executive branch, or did he invite cooperation from executive employes?

No law and no executive order prevents the transmission of information by executive employes to members of Congress if it's the intent not to injure but to help the United States.

This is the spirit as well as the letter of the law governing relations of the personnel of the two branches of government. Dr. Teller and Sen. McMahon observed both.

People who wouldn't think of asking a mortician for a free funeral or a plumber for a free repair job think nothing of asking musicians, speakes, writers and ministers to play, speak, write and pray for fun.

Trouble lies ahead for all appliance manufacturers who are not working day and night to figure out better ways to service their gadgets. Since no gadget is worth the space it takes without assurance of service, space won't be forthcming eventually unless service can be assured in advance.

The prospect of listening to musicians who sing and play flat, because this is supposed to be the newest thing, is enough to make a customer with a good ear turn in his pitch pipe and tuning fork.

For the same reason that a watched pot doesn't boil, people who spend all their waking hours searching for relaxation and peace of mind are not likely to find it.

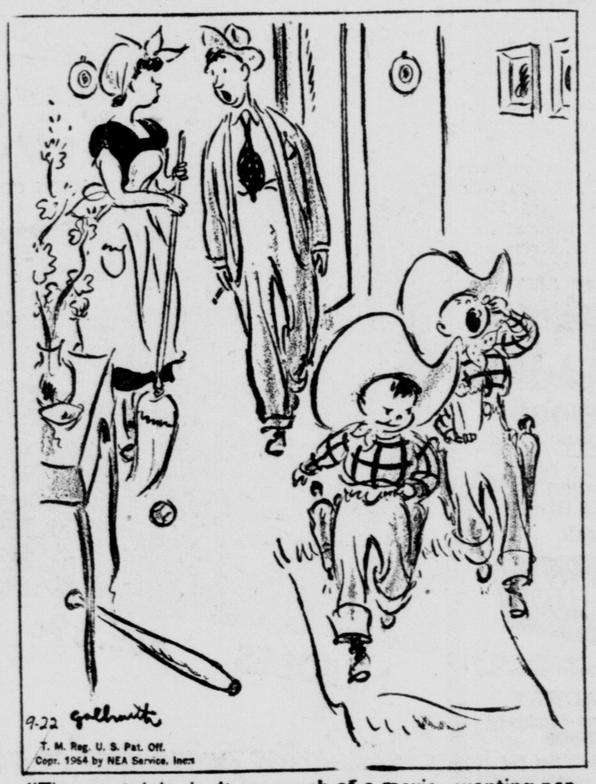

Many of the plays written for television's hour-long shows, are far superior to anything in the same category ever done on the stage or in the movies. They discuss substantial subject matter crisply and should be good for many re-runs before their potentialities have been exhausted.

Aside from her other attributes, men find Missus DiMaggio charming because in her face and manner she looks as unsophisticated as the girl who used to live next door—the one with the snub nose and the hair always flying out of place.

Eventually, the public turns against its darlings and systematically pulls them to pieces. Most of them never are heard of again, although a few like Lindbergh and Hoover refuse to go down the drain of obscurity and bitterness.

Return of the Prodigal

Communism And Social Reform

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The editor of the Waterbury, Conn., Republican, raised a most interesting question. He is dealing with investigations of persons and he says:

Sokolsky

"A perfectly deady syllogism is abroad in this country today. It runs something like this: The Communists profess to be for a better break all around for the economically and socially depressed; here's a fellow who feels that fine as our American system is, it will bear economic and social improvement; therefore he is a Communist or, at the very least, he will bear watching."

Men have labored to improve social and economic conditions in the capitalist world, Charles Dickens, William Morris, Henry George, Jacob Riis, Jane Addams, Samuel Gompers, to pick a few names, without being regarded as Communists. In fact, Henry George and Samuel Gompers labored valiantly against Marxism.

SOCIAL AND economic conditions in the capitalist world have been improving since the dark days in the early 19th Century often called the Industrial Revolution. And they will continue to be improved, just as the 56-hour week gave way to the 40-hour week; just as women and children have been protected in labor.

The quarrel is never over the need for elevating the proletariat to the living conditions of the middle class of the 19th century, and even better, because of technologic develeopments. It is over the method of change, whether it is to be by a rising standard of living through an evolutionary process, tested against existing social and economic conditions, or by the clash of revolution.

Marxism is more than a method for improving the conditions of mankind. Were it only that, it would be little different than the reformist movements such as, for instance, the Bull Moose of Theodore Roosevelt. It is a philosophy of total change, not only of the environmet but of the nature of man.

It involves a revolutionary alteration of man's thinking, including a rejection of what the Marxists call "mystical superstitions," namely, God and every expression of religion.

Therefore, many men and women who labor to improve the lot of man, even in this generation, cannot be called Communists because they are anti-Marxist. Nobody would regard Bishop Fulton Sheen as a Communist.

THE ISSUE is the relationship of a man's thinking to God and his conduct to the Natural Law, which every Marxist must reject.

On the question of who bears watching, it has been my experience that nobody is investigated who has not of his own accord put himself into a position that requires some explanation.

Often the investigation can save a man from difficulties. For instance, rumors about Dr. Ralph Bunche have been continuous for several years; the investigation saved Dr. Bunche from destruction by rumor, for which Dr. Bunche was in a measue himself responsible. True, some people like to believe wrong of a man but when Dr. Bunche was recently promoted by the United Nations, not a voice was raised against him.

The FBI is required to investigate applicants for employment or promotion by the United States government. It either makes a name check which is generally a reference to its own files or it makes a fie'd check which is thorough and takes a long time.

In more than one instance, I am sure that favorable testimony helped the person get the job. Why should we all assume that all testimony is unfavorable?

PRACTICALLY every member of our government is investigated sooner or later. Yet more than 2,300,000 men and women do hold positions in the federal government despite all the excitement about Communists in government. There are undoubtedly some Communists in our government; there are not as many as there used to be.

The significance of one Communist in a critical area is that every member of this party is literally an agent of a foregn power. He is a security risk. But most employes of our government, all of whom are investigated, are not security risks. They are just Americans.

The man who has not put himself in a bad spot need not fear investigation. But even the man who put himslf in a bad spot can always clear his record if he has a mind to. Or if he does not care, he need not seek employment that requires a security investigation.

Political Predictions

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Businessmen who pay plenty of the firm's money and lots of what the government would otherwise get in taxes on various forecasters demand a hard task of a political commentator. It is expected that he will produce, by nice statistical arrangements and deductions, a prediction of what will happen in the election come this November.

It is no credit to many such commentators that they seek to comply. They do so at the expense of common sense and, unfortunately in some cases, at a high price in self-respect. There is only one thing that a good many years on writing on political subjects permits me to say for sure: Nobody can tell much about what will happen. And for one shall not attempt the shady job of fooling people.

To illustrate what I mean, I take a lesson from the various interpretations of the Maine election. Surely it ought to be easier to interpret something that has happened than to determine in advance a lot of things that haven't happened.

IT SHOULD BE easier to find out what happened in a relatively stable state like Maine than in the 47 other states, some of which are as capricious as a March wind

My sampling of interpretations was, as they say, nationwide. That is, I have traveled from Los Angeles to the East Side of New York since the Maine election.

I have examined the comments in various papers over that stretch and have talked with a number of people.

In Chicago I was told that, while the election of a Democratic governor in Maine can be discounted because of the unpopularity of the incumbent Republican governor, the drop in the majorities of Mrs. Smith and the incumbent Republican congressmen is ominous.

It means, they said in Chicago, that pactical and tough minded Maine voters are fed up with the globaism of Mrs. Smith and at least one or two of the congressmen. Therefore, Republicans stayed home in large numbers, and some of those who did not stay home decided to vote a protest against internationalism.

THEN THERE was the line taken by a commentator who is pretty global himself. He says that the vote means that the great independent vote is not favorable to the Republican party, while it is still enthusiastic about the President.

The deduction of this commentator is that Republican candidates must become so much like Democratic candidates that the great mass of independent voters will move into that party. There is no real rational reason why people who have been voting Democratic because they liked Democratic policies should move over into the Republican party. But that was the position taken by this same commentator before the Republican convention in 1952, and his deduction was that Taft should be defeated at all costs.

There are variations on these guesses which need not be outlined here. They all simply mean that commentators, being human, interpret an omen in line with their prejudices.

TWO COMENTS that I encountered, however, made sense. One was by Kyle Palmer, political editor of the Los Angeles Times. He said that Los Angeles is a long way from Maine, that September is a long way from November, and that until all the figures are examined and the voters and nonvoters identified, anyone would be a fool to interpret any meaning into the Maine result.

Another bit of common sense was written into an editorial in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The author of that editorial merely quoted the old version of the still older aphorism, "As Maine goes so goes Maine."

"Taxes Help Bolster Our National Defense" — headline. At least they keep people up in arms.

Farm Operators and Workers Now Under Social Security

Amendments to the Social Security Act are of particular importance to farm operators and farm workers in Mahoning and Columbiana counties, William J. McCauley, manager of the Social Security, district office said today.

The new law extends social security protection to almost all farm families after this year. Nationwide, about 23,600,000 self-employed farm operators will be covered for the first time in much the same way as other self-employed persons already under the program. Approximately 2,100,000 more hired farm workers will start building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on Jan. 1.

This means that by the time they have worked through two more crop years, elderly farm people may be insured, so that they can receive monthly social security checks after age 65.

A farmer's family will be protected, too, so that if he should die, at any age, the widow and young children would receive the monthly payments. For a retired farmer and his wife, the payments will be from $45 to almost $163 a month, depending upon hs earnings, while the family of an insured worker who dies will receive from $45 to $200 a month.

The amended law does away with the complicated "regularly employed" test whereby a worker had to be continuously employed by a farm operator before his work started to count toward social security. Also eliminated is the provision that he must then be employed by the same farm operator on a full-time basis for at least sixty days during the following quarter.

The amended law replaces this test with the requirement that, beginning Jan. 1, 1955, an agricultural employee will be covered by social security in any calendar year in which he is paid as much as $100 in cash by one farm employer.

While this amendment to the Social Security Act will bring coverage to many more farm workers, the new law does not cover the most intermittent or short - time workers, and does not impose on the farm employer the burden of reporting small amounts of wages However, the farm operator who employs farm help will have an obligation to report the employee's covered wages and remit the social security tax (two percent deducted from the worker's cash wages; two percent contributed by the farm operator). The farmer will send the report and the taxes for his employee to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

Mr. McCauley pointed out that the farm operator will earn social security credits in the same way as all other self-employed people who are under the program, with one notable exception. For farm operators whose gross income is less than $1,800 in a year, there is a special simplified reporting procedure. The farm operator will report his income for social security and pay his first social security self-employment tax on his 1955 earnings. The social security tax is a three per cent tax which is due, with the social security income report, at the same time the farmer pays his income tax. The date is April 15, 1956.

Farm operators and workers who have never been in employment or self-employment covered by social security and have never had a social security account card, or have lost their card, should get in touch with the nearest Social Security District Office, McCauley declared.

A representative of the Social Security office is at the Salem Postofice every Tuesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Hen Is Good Mother, Just Likes To Travel

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Washington Jr.'s old hen is a good mother. She just likes to travel once in a while.

The Rhode Island red got a yen again yesterday and forgot all about her brood. She was picked up here after riding 180 miles from her Sweet Hill, Va. home on the third axle of Washington's tractor trailer. She did the same thing last week.

Italian Held In Death Of Party Girl

ROME (AP)—The sex and dope scandal of Wilma Montesi's death exploded again last night with the arrests of Piero Piccioni, son of Italy's former foreign minister, and self-styled Marquis Ugo Montagna.

The case, involving lurid allegations of drug and sex orgies attended by prominent Italians, has rocked official Rome and threatened Premier Mario Scelba's government. Piero's father, Attilio Piccioni, resigned his Cabinet post last Saturday to help in his son's defense.

Body Found On Beach

The younger Piccioni, 32, is charged with aggravated manslaughter in connection with the death of the shapely 21-year-old party girl, whose nearly nude body was found on a beach at Ostia, near Rome, a year ago last April.

Montagna is accused of aiding and abetting. Both men were held in Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) prison. They have repeatedly denied any connection with Wilma's death.

The arrests of Piccioni and Montagna came 12 days after Dr. Raffaele Sepe, an official of Rome's Court of Appeals who has been conducting an official investigation of the case, asked police to pick up their passports.

Although Wilma's death has sparked Italy's hottest scandal in a decade, there was little indication of it when her body was found. Police investigated, conducted an autopsy and announced the sultry-looking girl died of natural causes —probably drowning. There was water in her lungs.

Charge Wild Party

Later a 25-year-old magazine editor named Silvano Muto authored a story in which he charged that Wilma had been dumped on the beach to die after being given an overdose of drugs at a wild party attended by socialites and notables.

Muto was brought to trial on charges of spreading false and alarmist reports. In court Montagna's ex-mistress, Anna Maria Moneta Caglio, testified that Piccioni and Montagna knew something about Wilma's death. She wrote a letter, entered in court records, terming Montagna the "brains" of a dope ring that preyed on young women and Piccioni its "assassin."

Witneses said the luxurious villa Montagna had rented at Ostia was the scene of frequent dope and sex orgies.

Shortly after Anna Maria's testimony, the government halted Muto's trial and ordered Sepe's investigation.

al months before the appraisal.

In Mahoning County, the legal firm which filed the first three condemnation suits organized a utility corporation and bought the parcel on the Ohio - Pennsylvania line and received a pipeline under the turnpike worth $17,000.

At Warren, an attorney for the commision was attorney for the land owner and the appraisal was revised upward about $6,000. The attorney was identified as Lewis Guarnieri of Warren.

In Lorain County, an appraiser bought land from the owner after appraising it. In another case, an appraiser tried to buy land in Lorain County before the turnpike had made any purchases.

Appraisers buy land at the Route 5 Interchange in Trumbull County in their own name. Also in this area, appraisers receive commissions from land owners to sell remaining land to unknown purchasers.

The study began last January and the auditor's office has $15,000 left to continue the audit. Cook pointed out the work still is under way, with auditors checking construction contracts and finished construction as well as engineering fees.

"This is expected to be one of the major phases of the audit and will take considerable additional time to complete," Cook noted.

7. Forbid parking on the south side of Cleveland St. between Hawley Ave. and Brooklyn Ave.

An ordinance designating N. Lundy Ave. one-way to northbound traffc from State to E. 4th St. and S. Lundy, one-way to southbound vehicles from State to Columbia St. was given a second reading and referred to the traffic committee.

Reporting for the streets and sidewalks committee, Councilman Arthur Hanna reminded Council that city trucks being used on the State St. project, in addition to the contractor's vehicles, were being leased from the city.

Mayor Cranmer requested that Council consider the possibility of hiring more school traffic patrolmen to assist the four now provided by city ordinance.

confidence and an opportunity to become useful, Warner said.

Based on available figures there are anywhere from 100 to 200 children in the county who could benefit from the educational program which the seven-member council advocates.

In order for such classes to be initiated, parents of eight retarded children must submit petitions to the Ohio Department of Health and Welfare after an accredited psychologist has determined the qualifications of the youngsters.

At a meeting of the council last week in East Liverpool, plans were made to give psychological tests to some 100 retarded children in the county within the next few weeks. The tests will be given by a psychologist in East Liverpool.

In the near future, two separate forms will be mailed to the parents of retarded children. One form to be filled out will be an application for a special class instruction for such children. The other form will be a medical card which is to be filled out by a physician who is to examine the child.

Parents of retarded children who have not been contacted by the board are urged to get into contact with any of its members, David Simich of Salem, William E. McNutt and Mrs. Harry Steinmetz of East Liverpool, Harold R. Martsolf of East Palestine, Howard Hochman of Lisbon and Mrs. John Zundel of Negley.

Harriman

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of President Roosevelt.

Before Roosevelt could be presented, two more county delegations had voted to bring the total to 541-217.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, the convention's permanent chairman, halted the rollcall and presented Roosevelt as "a great American."

FDR Jr. told the wildly cheering delegates;

Asks Unanimous Vote

"On behalf of my many friends, I would like to suggest that the nomination of my old friend Averell Harriman be made unanimous." This was done.

Referring to the bitter battle for the nomination, Roosevelt said, "let bygones be bygones" and promised to campaign for Harriman. He predicted that if the Democrats went all out in the campaign they would win their first New York gubernatorial victory "in 12 long, horrible years."

Harriman appeared on the platform and Roosevelt congratulated him. He also congratulated Tammany leader Carmine G. DeSapio one of the party leaders who led the fight for Harriman.

Harriman, with Roosevelt at his side, thanked the delegates for their "expression of confidence" and Roosevelt for his pledge of support.

The harmonious scene contrasted sharply with the angry battle the Roosevelt and Harriman forces had fought for the nomination.

an additional classroom for shop use.

The new dressing rooms would be built north of the new lobby and on the west side of the new gymnasium. The fifth plan is to build a room 40 x 60 feet on the south side of the new gym. This room would seat 250 students for study hall and possibly add a kitchen in one end of this room which Mr. Dickson estimated would cost $5,000 and then possibly move the cafeteria into this room and have it double for study hall and cafeteria with a library in one end.

He pointed out that the existing cafeteria, which is approximately the size of the planned new combination room could be used for storage and perhaps a study hall.

Vice president of the board, Mrs. Wilbur Sangree, said she felt that the six-point program in the order listed was the way the money should be spent.

Board member and Clerk, T. R. Sommerville said "he felt the passage of the bond issue is an important thing to Goshen High School."

Supt. C. G. Long cited school enrollment figures. Goshen Center school 132 pupils which is 3 less than last year. He stated that the proposed new building at Goshen Center which would give them six classrooms would not be needed next year, but would be needed in the near future.

Goshen Union elementary, first through sixth grades has 287 pupils or a gain of 35 over last year. Mr. Long said that with the passage of the bond issue they would divide the study hall used now for high school pupils into two elementary classrooms which would give them 10 elementary classrooms whereas they actually need 12. Goshen Union Junior and Senior high school has an enrollment of 363 pupils, a gain of 32 over last year.

Dickson stated that $158,000 is the maximum amount which they could ask for and that the Board of Education at a previous date had voted a bond of $5,000 which was used to finish installing the heating in the new gymnasium.

He asked that the citizens present declare themselves on whether the Board should leave the bond issue on the ballot or have it removed. Those present voted for presenting the bond issue at the November election. Then Mr. Dickson asked those present to vote on a committee of five to present this bond issue to the voters of the Goshen territory and instructed them to draft a definite plan to present to the Board of Education as to what kind of building and equipment they felt the board should purchase with the bond money since the boards' six-point program is a verbal one and no motion had been recorded as to how the bond issue will actually be spent if passed.

The five persons voted to serve as the committee from Goshen Union are Robert Risbeck, chairman, Robert Morrow, vice chairman, Mrs. Joseph Bush, secretary ,and Dan Babe and Del Court.

At a similar meeting Monday evening at Goshen Center the five members of the committee are: Norman Karlin, chairman, Chester Lucas, vice chairman, Burton Hillis, secretary, Jack Eyrich and Raymond Weingart.

Board members Jay Bricker and Glenn Shreve were absent from Tuesday night's meeting.

Miss Judy Handy Of Beloit Becomes Bride Of Alliance Man

Honeymooning in New York and Niagara Falls are Samuel V. Cotton of Alliance, and his bride, the former Miss Judy Ann Handy, the daughter of Mrs. Emma Handy of Beloit, who were married Saturday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Alliance.

For the ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. John W. Cunningham, the altar was decorated with ferns and fall flowers. G. E. Graf presided at the organ for the nuptial music.

The bride, gowned in chantilly lace, complemented with a finger tip veil, was given in marriage by her brother, Luther Handy of Alliance. She carried a white prayer book topped with stephanotis.

Mrs. Christiana Blackman of Beloit served as matron of honor for her sister, and William Berrichia was best man. The bridegroom's brothers, Astey and Vincent Cotton, ushered.

A dinner for the immediate families was held in Christopher Columbus hall in Alliance, where a reception for 300 was held that evening.

The newlyweds, who are employed by the Limoges China Co., will make their home with the bridegroom's father, Joseph Cotton of 1516 E. Patterson St., Alliance.

Lt. and Mrs. aryl J. Beck and children, Joyce, Darylene, and Leila, of Washington, D.C., are visiting Lt. Beck's mother, Mrs. Jesse Beck of Washington St. The lieutenant and his family will leave shortly for Turkey where he will be stationed. Other guests in the Beck home were a son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Beck of Beaver Falls.

Band Mothers Tag Day Set Saturday

With 77 student musicians turning out for the Salem High School marching band this year, the annual Band Mothers "Tag Day" Saturday on the downtown streets has taken on added significance because part of the money collected will be required to pay for several additional Red and Black uniforms.

The president, Mrs. Thomas Mercer, said today that the present uniforms were purchased in May of 1945, and, since the band has increased in size considerably, at least 10 new utfits are needed.

Arriving in time for the first game last Friday were new majorette uniforms, which also will be covered by the Band Mothers fund.

The Band mothers club was organized in 1941 for closer cooperation between parents and the music department of the school. Fllowing passage of a law stipulating that school boards could not spend money for band equipment, it became necessary to form a money-making org.nization for that purpose.

Mrs. Charles Lind became the first president of the mothers group as the outgrowth of the meeting here Oct. 2, 1941. Second president was the late Mrs. Joseph Pales and third, Mrs. Andrew Hodge. Others were Mrs. George Huston, Mrs A. W. Lieder, Mrs. Hobart Butcher, Mrs. Robert Dunn, Mrs. C. F. Cobourn, Mrs. James Luke and Mrs. Mercer.

Michael Kloos Feted On 68th Birthday

Michael Kloos, 68, of E. 7th St. was honored Sunday at a surprise birthday party by his wife and children. The picnic-style affair was held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Klein of Newgarden St. Mr. Kloos received many gifts.

During the afternoon, baseball and basketball provided entertainment, and Frank Falk took the guests for enjoyable rides in a convertible racer. In the evening. Mr. Klein showed moving pictures.

The 28 present included Mr. and Mrs. Klein and family; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Falk; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Falk and family; and out-of-town relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Falk and son of Akron; Mrs. Richard Falk and daughter of Cuyahoga Falls; Mr and Mrs. Rudy Blasens and family of Farrell, Pa. Mrs. Blasens is a niece of Mrs. Kloos.

Unable to attend the party were three sons, Richard of Cuyahoga Falls, a pilot for Goodyear Co., who is in California on business; Rudy, who is stationed with the Army in Aberdeen, Md., and Albert, who is serving with the Air Force n Japan.

Following the meeting, the members visited the new Youth Center Canteen at the Memorial Building.

The next meeting will be Oct. 18.

Susan Townsend Feted At Birthday Party

Susan Townsend, who was four years old Saturday, was the honoree at a birthday party arranged by her mother, Mrs. Clarence Townsend and grandmother, Mrs. W. S. Grafton.

The party took place in the Townsend home on S. Union Ave. Nine youngsters helped Susan celebrate, bringing her gifts. After games were played and movies were taken by her mother, refreshments were served including Susan's decorated birthday cake, the work of Mrs. Grafton.

The children received party hats and as they were leaving each was presented a gift by Susan, who also opened a package sent by her father, who is employed in Jacksonville, Fla.

Sigle-McCabe Vows Pledged Saturday

Rev. W. B. Hanks officiated at the wedding of Miss Margaret Elaine Sigle and John B. McCabe which was an event of Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Calla Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Sigle of Canfield, and the bridegroom is the son of Joseph McCabe of Newton Falls and the late Mrs. McCabe.

A high collar emphasized the fitted bodice of the bride's white lace and tulle gown worn over satin. Lace panels added beauty to the waltz length skirt of swirling tulle. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. White orchids in her bouquets were in a circle of white pompons.

Miss Ernestine Sigle was her sister's maid of honor in a rust-colored gown of taffeta and tulle. She carried deep ruby dahlias. Christi Waldorf, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl wore dark green taffeta and tulle and her flowers were yellow dahlias.

William Waldorf was best man and ushers were James Conko and William J. Williams.

After the reception in the church parlor, Mr. and Mrs. McCabe left on their honeymoon to New York City. They will return to reside at 306 W. Main St., Canfield. Mrs. McCabe was employed by Sigle Greenhouse in Canfield. Her husband is a partner in the McCabe Drug Store in Canfield.

White Sox Upset Indians' Try For 110th Win, 9-7

Sloppy Fielding Defeats Tribe

5 Errors, Passed Ball, Wild Pitch Recorded

2 CLEVELAND (AP)—Brawny-armed Al Rosen, who has made only one pinchhitter appearance for the Cleveland Indians since they clinched the pennant Saturday, says he's "just resting up for the World Series."

"Sure my leg's been bothering me some, and I've had a sore back, but you can bet I'd be in there if the pennant wasn't wrapped up," Rosen said after the Tribe lost to the Chicago White Sox 9-7 last night.

Rosen got into that game to draw a pinch walk in the seventh and then a runner was sent in for him. In the Indians' last eight games he has missed three pinchhits in two and played three.

"With our kind of bench anyone can lay off for a couple of days without being missed," Rosen continued.

"Back in the early part of the season, even my outs were solid and I just felt good all over. I still reached that 100 RBI mark, but I'm not happy about the season. That's why I'm anxious to get rested. I'm determined to have a real good series."

His friends have started to worry about him, Rosen said, and he's anxious to allay any exaggerated ideas about his health. He said that recently a friend "who runs one of the Cleveland hospitals called and said all its facilities were available to me—and he wasn't joking, either."

The absence of Rosen's slugging wasn't what hurt the Tribe last night. Outfielder Larry Doby provided plenty of punch with a two-run homer and a three-run double. Doby batted in another run with a foul for a total of six to tie Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees for the league lead in runs batted in at 124. With 32 homers, Doby already holds a three-run edge in that department.

What wrecked the Indians' chances last night to extend their 11-game winning string and to cop a 110th victory to tie a league record was infield play that allowed three unearned Chicago runs on five errors, a wild pitch and a passed ball.

With four more games to play, the Tribe doesn't seem to be worrying about its chances of setting a new games-won record to replace the one the 1927 New York Yankees put on the league's books.

But in today's rubber game with the White Sox, the Indians will have a special incentive to defeat the team which twice has stopped their longest 1954 winning strings at 11 games.

Mickey Grasso, catching for Cleveland in place of Jim Hegan who also is taking a rest, made two of the Tribe errors, but he also smacked a homer over the left field fence in the seventh off Morris Martin, the White Sox winning pitcher. It was only the fifth time at bat this season for Grasso, whose ankle was fractured in spring training.

Dobys homer off Mike Fornieles, Cuban righthander who started for Chicago, matched his peak homer performance in eight seasons with the Indians. He hit 32 homers in 1953, when he also hit an RBI high of 104—20 under his current total.

Art Houtteman, nicked for 10 of Chicago's 13 hits, was the losing pitcher when he was chased by a three-run rally in the seventh, which included a bobble by Hank Majeski, a wild pitch by reliefer Dave Hoskins which let in one run, and a passed ball that allowed another.

Wild pick - off throws by Houtteman and Grasso after a muff at first by Vic Wertz netted the first Chicago run of the night without even one base hit required. Three White Sox runs in the ninth locked it up, and the first of these was walked across by Bob Hooper.

Southpaw Don Mossi (5-1) will pitch for the Tribe in the afternoon game today against Jack Harshman (14-7), who stands 2-2 against the Indians this season.

Salem Archery Club To Meet Thursday

Another organization session of the Salem Archery Club will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Salem Hunting Club. Thirteen persons attended the first meeting held there last Thursday.

Future meetings and a program of events will be discussed at the forthcoming get-together.

PITCHING — Bob Grim, New York Yankees, became the first Yankee 20-game winning rookie Russ Ford in 1910 as he held the Washington Senators to four hits for a 3-1 victory.

BATTING — Jackie Jensen, Boston Red Sox, his 10th inning single broke up the first game and his three run homer decided the second as the Rtd Sox swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics by 4-3 scores.

JUST SO THEY'LL GET THE IDEA.—Notre Dame's football team, which plays Texas University Sept. 25 under new coach Terry Brennan, pictures its backs jumping over Texas, probably so they might get the idea. OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. I. Lide

Excessive rains put the damper on squirrel hunters the first three days of open season Most hunters sat in their cars and got a little hunting between showers.

Bag checks provided very little information as to the squirrel population. If the kill was held down by the weather or if squirrels are not too plentiful, this will have to be determined by further hunting. I saw no one with more than two squirrels in possession and many had none. One man from Alliance and his son hunted for 12 hours and came to their car at dark with only one squirrel and a bag full of woods mushrooms.

Next week the story might be different with the weather being the determining factor.

Hunters in the hilly section among the rock formations will do well to wear boots. Dennis McKenzie of East Liverpool, reports a copperhead struck him on the boots The bite of these snakes are seldom, if ever, fatal, but the bite is severe and painful to say the least.

PHEASANT SEASON opens Nov. 15 and the northern part of the county is the most preferred section as adaptable to proper habitat. The hilly sections in the southern end of the county can be considered as better for grouse and deer but there will be no deer season.

The pheasant outlook is very good. Rabbits seem spotty and not too plentiful.

Sportsmen are constantly asking me about the Zepernick property and if it is now owned by the State. As far as I know it is not yet state property although no doubt the transaction will be completed within the near future.

When it becomes state property, the Ohio Division of Wildlife will present the program and policy governing this area so I will have to wait instructions in order to provide the correct information. No doubt the lake there can be made into a good fishing spot. But as far as public huntng is concerned the area is too small to provide anything too exciting. However, every little bit helps. The future will determine the benefits to the sportsmen.

I ATTENDED the monthly meeting of the District 3 personnel of Game Protectors and game management technicians Monday at Castalia. Having arrived at the Resthaven area before the meeting was called at 9 I took an early morning tour of part of the territory. In the open spots seeded to various grasses and legumes for the benefit of pheasants I will say what I saw more resembled a poultry farm.

Pheasants were on the feed in the open spots where they could be easily observed. I saw well over 100 with more crossing the roadway going both directions. The State owns 1,403.55 acres of land with another 802.47 acres under lease for ten-year periods with option to buy when the present owners, Medusa Portland Cement Co. finshes its operations.

Local hunters know very little about the good hunting provided at Resthaven in which pheasants are No. 1 game, with rabbits being secondary.

It is about a three-hour drive from here and good public hunting territory. Hardly any use taking a poinetr or setter there to find the game because you would spend most of your time looking for the dog on point on account of most of the land is grown up with rank vegetation that would hide the dog.

The various types of retrievers would be more practical and particularly the type that would run down and retrieve crippled game. A permit is required to hunt these lands and can be obtained at the checking station at Castalia without any trouble.

Nuxhall Blanks Braves 5-0 On 5 Hits

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Redlegs shut out a patched up Milwaukee team, 5-0, yesterday, but the Cincinnatians would have been hard to beat even by a full contingent of Braves' first stringers.

The postman is going to deliver World Series checks to someone's door, and the way Joe Nuxhall looked in limiting Milwaukee to five hits, he wants that particular mailman to visit his home in Hamilton, Ohio.

The victory put the Redlegs 2½ games ahead of fifth-place Philadelphia, who were idled by rain.

Philadelphia has eight games remaining to be played and the Redlegs three.

The Cincinnati team's chances to cut in on World Series money for the first time since 1944 seem mighty promising.

Nuxhall, in posting his twelfth victory of the season, did not allow a Milwaukee runner to get beyond second base. However, he had the help of three more Cincinnati double plays.

The Reds opened the scoring with three runs in the third inning on one hit. Andy Seminick walked with one out, then slid under Chet Nichols' throw of Nuxhall's sacrifice. Bobby Adams tripled to score Seminick and Nuxhall, then rode home on Roy McMillan's sacrifice fly.

In the eighth Nuxhall was safe when Johnny Logan dropped a pop fly. McMillan sacrificed and Nuxhall scored when Bell singled. The Reds scored again in the ninth when Johnny Temple doubled to score Bob Borkowski. The latter had forced Wally Post, who opened the inning with a single.

Andy Pafko, Joe Adcock, Hank Aaron and Hank Thompson are sidelined with injuries, and Charley Grimm, Braves manager, put third baseman Eddie Mathews, in right field.

Football Pool Operators Flee $75,000 Debt

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City football parlay card players who lost, lost, and those who won, also lost.

Syndicate kingpins who hold the local franchise flew the coop over Sunday, leaving bookies with an estimated $75,000 debt to card winners. Some bookies closed shop rather than face enraged parlayers who were trying to collect.

Handicappers said the syndicate took a beating on last week's games.

Minor Leagues To Sue Majors

May Ask 50 Million For Hurting Clubs

PORTSMOUTH, Va., (AP)—Frank D Lawrence, a minor league club owner for many years, today charged the major leagues with invading minor league territory through radio and television broadcasts and identified himself as the key figure behind a multi-million dollar damage suit to make them pay for it.

At the same time, Lawrence accused Commissioner Ford Frick of being "a commissioner of the New York big league clubs only—not commissioner of baseball."

Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth Club of the Class B Piedmont League, said he had the support of most of the 83 independent operators in the minor leagues in his plans to file suit against Frick and the 16 major league clubs.

"Many of these minor league clubs already have mailed in their checks to pay the cost of th suit," said Lawrence, a banker who has made "a hobby of baseball for 47 years."

Lawrence said these minor league clubs had been asked to contribute to the costs of the proposed suit.

Lawrence said the big league clubs collect millions of dollars annually through radio and television broadcasts and are "trying to put the minor leagues out of commission.

"The big leagues violate the most sacred agreement in all of baseball, he added. "That's the respect for territorial rights. The big leagues do worse than invade your territoy. They send it down by radio and television to the fans—free of charge—and collect vast sums for it."

"Now don't get me wrong. The big leagues should go ahead and get all of the money out of radio and television they can, but we want them to share it with the minor league clubs."

Lawrence said he had no idea how much would be involved in the proposed suit, but he hinted it would run somewhere around 50 million dollars.

The veteran club owner said that "during the past five years, 25 leagues in 200 cities have been killed by radio and television."

Lawrence plans to confer with an attorney, identified only as one of america's most famous attorneys, about the suit tomorrow.

"Whether the suit is filed or not will be predicated on the advice of my attorney, who has been making a study of the major-minor agreement, Lawrence said. "If he takes the case, we'll go to court."

Frick said in New York he had not heard of the proposed suit and declined comment. Advised of this, Lawrence said "Frick does know. Hes known how I feel for a long time. I've told him I thought he ought to resign. He's a commissioner of the New York big league clubs only—not commissioner of baseball."

Lawrence said he was a member of a nine-man committee set up to study major-minor league relations but Frick had ordered the committee not to discuss radio and television.

Boosters To Hear Richard Barrett

Richard Barrett, brother of SHS football coach Ben Barrett and former Youngstown East gid mentor, will speak at the regular meeting of the Salem Booster Club on Thusday night at 7:30 in the Memoial Building.

Barett is now serving his first term as president of the Youngstown City Council and is a teacher at East High School.

Movies of last week's Salem-Conneaut game will be shown and Coach Barrett will review the game and talk of this week's prospects. The Quakers meet the Ravens Friday night at Ravenna.

Autumn brings change of colors. So the Yale football squad will wear gold pants instead of the usual white this season.

Yankees Beat Nats 3-1 For Grim's 20th Victory

Giants Trounce Dodgers 5-2

Chicago Takes Pair From Cards, 4-3, 3-2

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roosevelt was president and Leo Durocher was managing Brooklyn when a 15-year-old high school boy from Hamilton, Ohio, took the mound for the Cincinnati Reds one gray afternoon in June, 1944.

The youngster missed the catcher completely with eight of his first nine pitches and finally staggered through one inning with five runs scored against him on five walks and two hits.

Ten years later Joe Nuxhall has made the grade in the big time.

The lefthander, who was the youngest player ever to wear a major league uniform and probably the wildest, has conquered his control problems and has a tidy 12-4 won-lost record for the fourth-place Redlegs.

His 12th victory came yesterday and was the best of the dozen. He gave the Milwaukee Braves only six hits, struck out six and walked but two in winning his third straight complete game and his first shutout, 5-0.

Nuxhall pitched only one other inning in 1944. It was for Birmingham in the Southern Assn. and it was even worse, five walks and six runs. The youngster dropped to Class D in 1945 then quit for a year and went back to high school.

The road back has been a long one — Muncie, Tulsa, Columbia, S.C., Charleston, W.Va., Tulsa again and finally Cincinnati in 1952. In the past two seasons with the Reds he won 10 and lost 15.

In the American League yesterday the New York Yankees set a record and the pennant-winning Cleveland Indians didn't. The Yanks beat Washington 3-1 for their 101st victory, the most games ever won by a runner-up in the junior circuit. The Indians, needing only one game to tie the all-time mark of 110 victories in the league, lost to Chicago 9-7.

Bob Grim, a 24-year-old bartender from Brooklyn, became the first Yankee rookie in 34 seasons to win 20 games. He gave up only four hits, all singles, in running his record to 20-6.

Grim, unlike Nuxhall, made it in one big jump. He was pitching in the Class A Eastern League when he went into the Marines three years ago. He caught the eye of Pitching Coach Jim Turner during spring training and stayed with the Yanks despite his inexperience. He is the club's biggest winner.

In other action yesterday the New York Giants continued their winning ways with a 5-2 triumph at Brooklyn. Chidago took a double-header from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2 in 6½. The Boston Red Sox beat the Philadelphia Athletics twice by 4-3 scores. The first game ran 10 innings.

The double loss and a 4-3 Baltimore victory over Detroit consigned the Athletics to the American League cellar.

The Philadelphia Phillies and the Pittsburgh Pirates were rained out.

Bobby Hofman hit a grand-slam homer in the first inning for the Giants and Ruben Gomez and Jim Hearn held the Dodgers to five hits.

Gene Baker singled home the winning run in the 10th inning of the first game at Chicago and Ralph Kiner and Steve Bilko homered in the darkness-shortened nightcap.

Jackie Jensen won a popularity contest as the Red Sox' most valuable player and celebrated by driving in the winning run in the first game and hitting a 3-run homer in the second against the Athletics.

The Indians committed five errors as their 11-game winning streak came to an end. Larry Doby drove in six runs but it was not enough to overcome the leaky defense which allowed three Chicago runs to score on a wild pick-off play, a wild pitch and a passed ball.

Bob Turley drove in one run, scored one and struck out five as Baltimore clinched seventh place, one notch higher than the club finished a year ago when it was the St. Louis browns.

VICTORY HUG — Joyous Leo Durocher almost strangles Sal Maglie in the Giant dressing room after "the Barber" successfully shaved the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-1, clinching the 1954 National League pennant.

No Adult Tickets On Sale For Ravenna

No adult tickets for the Salem-Ravenna game will be sent to Salem, according to Salem Faculty Manager Fred Cope.

Tickets may be purchased at Ravenna for one dollar in the covered grandstand and 50 cents for general admission. Student tickets have been sent here and can be purchased from Cope for 40 cents. Student tickets in Ravenna will cost 75 cents.

The Quakers - Ravens game will start at 8 p.m. Friday at the Ravenna Stadium.

The Ravens won their opening game last week against Bedford 26-6 and are expected to put up stiff opposition for the Quakers Friday.

This Saturday night at 8 p.m. the Quaker reserve squad will meet the Goshen Union Varsity at the Sebring Athletic Field. Faculty Manager Cope has scheduled several games for the Salem reserves as well as the freshmen this season.

Karl Zellers and Vince Crawford will tutor the reserves.

Dodgers Failure To Run On Base Paths Seen Key To Defeat

NEW YORK (AP)—Specialists who have examined the Brooklyn Dodgers minutely in an effort to discover what happened to their internal machinery this season are able now to report that the defending league champions simply came down with the slows under the direction of their new manager, Walt Alston.

If the Brooks continue for the remainder of the week at their present mad pace, they will finish the season with approximately half as many stolen bases as they racked up for aggressive Chuck Dressen last year—45 as against 90.

They will have grounded into about 25 more double plays than the 115 that were chalked up against them when Dresen was signaling for the hit and run. Their opponents over the season will commit some 35 fewer errors than they did last year, when they were jittery under the pressures of the Dodgers' running game.

There is no disposition to blame Alston. He inherited a club which had aged one year, and he probably was told that he could sit back and let his veterans drive the runs across. If so, he was a victim of poor advice.

They'll have to peddle the Philadelphia Athletics to some section of the country other than Texas. A recent week spent in that state disclosed that the desire to possess a big league team of any description has abated to the vanishing point.

"I was silly in the first place," asserted a leading citizen of Dallas, which only a few months back was yelling its civic head off. "If this town couldn't support a professional football club, how could it expect to support big league baseball?"

Another discouraging item is the heat. The record spell of 100-degree weather they've lived through around Dallas and Fort Worth this summer would have made an awful ordeal of daytime ball.

Ran into the master, Frank Leahy, at San Antonio, and can report that the man who gave up coaching Notre Dame to give his nervous insides a fighting chance already looks about a dozen years younger.

A citizens Olympic committee, numbering 180 of Melbourne's civic leaders, has been organized to arrange for the bedding down of the thousands of visitors expected for the 1955 Olympics in that Australian city.

As Melbourne boasts only about 4½ hotels of any size, it is planned to stake out sufficient private homes far in advance to take care of the great overflow.

Did you know that Willy Mays, at 23, is only the fifth right-handed batter in all the history of the National League to hit as many as 41 home runs in a season? Well, he is. The other four to have equaled or betered the figure—Hack Wilson, Ralph Kiner, Rogers Hornsby and Roy Campanella—all were comparative veterans when they did it.

Indians, Louisville Make Association Finals

The teams finishing first and second in the American Association pennant chase, Indianapolis and Louisville, will fight it out in the league's final playoffs to determine Little World Series representative.

Louisville moved into the finals last night by scoring two runs in the 10th inning on a home run by Bob Broome for a 4-2 victory over Columbus. It was the deciding contest of a bitterly fought seven-game series.

The final best-of-seven series will open tonight at Indianapolis. The Indians eliminated Minneapolis from the playoffs Monday night.

Wintersville Wins 35th Without Loss

Massillon Voted No. 1 In Ohio, McKinley 2nd

By FRTZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon's Tigers were off and running toward their seventh straight Ohio High School football championship today.

Picking up where they left off a year ago — although there's a new coach at the helm — the Stark County stalwarts snatched first place in the opening Associated Press poll of the top 10 teams.

Only 15 of the state's radio and newspaper sports editors participated in the inaugural poll, but the Tigers were rated No. 1 by 6 of them in piling up 113 points on the 10-9-8-etc. basis.

In second place were Canton McKinley's Bulldogs with 89, while Portsmouth's Trojans, second a year ago, were third with 62. Springfield's Wildcats wound up fourth with 58.

Next in line, with eight Southern sports scribes and seven Northerners voting, were Alliance 49, Warren 39, Mansfield 32, Middletown 28, Fremont Ross 27, and Urbana and Jackson tied for 10th with 18.

Massillon, with young Tom Harp succeeding Chuck Mather as coach, rolled to a 68-0 win over Struthers in the opener; Canton McKinley slaughtered Cleveland Lincoln, 55-0, with halfback John Goodrich scoring five touchdowns in the first half and then sitting out the rest of the game; Portsmouth, under new coach Tom Watson smeared Columbus Aquinas, 33-13, and Springfield was an easy 27-7 victor over Dayton Stivers.

Some practically unknown teams popped up among the also-rans in the poll as the scribes in some instances dropped in a complimentary vote for local favorites. Here's how they finished behind the top 11:

Dayton Chaminade 15, Dayton Roosevelt 14, Dayton Fairmont 15, Youngstown Rayen 12, Barberton 12, Toledo Waite 11, Hamilton Public 11, Athens 10, New Philadelphia 10, Cleveland Cathedral Latin 10, Dayton Wilbur Wright 10, Coal Grove 10, Wellston 8, Canton Central Catholic 8, Toledo Devilbiss 7, Chauncey - Dover 7, Lakewood 7, Niles 7, Cleveland Benedictine 7, Sout Point, 7, Gallipolis 6 East Liverpool 6, Cleveland Rhodes 6, Chesapeake 6, Brooksvield 5, Lima South 5, Cincinnati Purcel 5, East Cleveland Shaw 5, Wheelersburg 5, Steubenville 4, Cleveland Height 4, Canton Lincoln 4, Cincinnati Withrow 4, Canton Lehman 4, Lorain 4, Warren St. Marys 3, Tiltonsville 3, Bellaire 3, Akron St. Vincent 2, West Carrollton 2, Pomeroy 1, Wintersville 1, Waverly 1.

Massillon's 68-point spread was the biggest Tiger margin since Paul Brown's team beat Erie (Pa.) East 74-0 back in 1940, and Harp used 49 players in the rout.

Wintersville made it 35 games without a loss, and 28 straight wins, by defeating Springfield Twp. of Jefferson County 25-13; Chauncey-Dover ran its unbeaten string to 32 with a 31-6 conquest of Nelsonville, and Portsmouth won its 14th in a row against Columbus Aquinas.

Columbus Central's 15-12 win over Steubenville was the first for the state capital club over the Big Red in 17 attempts, and was only the fourth time since 1910 the easterners had dropped the opener.

LION'S WHIP

CLAIMS STENGEL SIGNED

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times says it has been "reliably informed" that Casey Stengel signed a contract yesterday in New York to manage the New York Yankees in 1955. Stengel, 63, a resident of nearby Glendale, Calif., won five straight American League pennants and five World Series with the Yanks, but this year lost out to the Cleveland Indians in the pennant chase.

ORDER SADDLER TO BOX

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. has served notice on featherweight champion Sandy Saddler his title will be vacated unless he defends it against Percy Bassett by Dec. 14. Tony Petronella, NBA president, said last night that if Saddler fails to comply with the order the NBA will sanction a championship bout between Bassett and Teddy (Red Top) Davis of New Haven, Conn.

Stengel Has Great Record Although He Was Rebuilding

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — In the hullabaloo about the typical National League finish, leave us, as they say in Brooklyn, not overlook the phenomenal six-year run of the Yankess.

After an unprecedented five consecutive pennants and world championships, the New York Americans were beaten by the Indians. They did not beat themselves. When the erstwhile Bombers were definitely knocked out in the doubleheader in Cleveland, they had won 95 games, which were enough to take it all in 1952.

So, after five successive successful seasons the Yankees forced the Tribe to what promises to be a new American League record for games won in a season, 111. The mark is 110, hung up by the 1927 Yankees, generally considered the greatest of the Bronx' 20 pennant winners.

The Yankees will be remembered for their five consecutive championships long after the Indians, 1954 American League champions, and the Giants, Dodgers and Braves currently battling it out in the National.

If so-called modern baseball started at the turn of the century, 53 years were required for a club to cop five flags in a row.

If a guy could get a price on this occurring again, the odds would be even greater that he wouldn't live to see it happen.

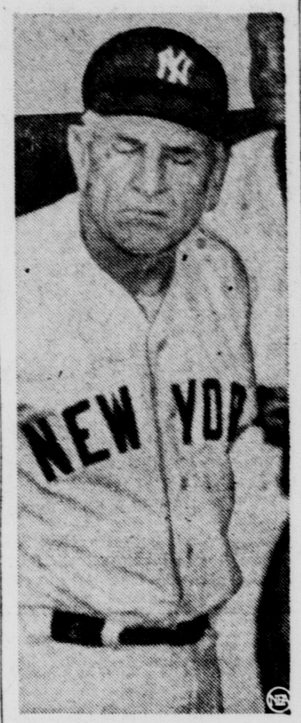

-:-

CHARLES DILLON STENGEL will be remembered by the public as the man who guided the Yankees to the five pennants and world championships, the master strategist who in sustained success outdid Connie Mack, John J. McGraw and Joe McCarthy.

Baseball men give Casey Stengel even more credit, for they know Ol' Case dominated baseball while rebuilding, making the feat all the more extraordinary.

All you have to do is check the World Series rosters. Of the 1947 Yankees, the last to win before Stengel, only Yogi Berra, Allie Reynolds and Phil Rizzuto were in the party which finally fell flat on its face on the Cleveland lakefront before the largest crowd in the history of the game. And of the three old standbys, Berra alone is expected to be back next spring. Others have worn out or lost that step or fast one.

So Stengel must continue rebuilding, which means that the Yankees' rivals had best look out for five more years, or, as the Ol' Perfesser would put it, five more years, maybe. You are quite safe in wagering that Stengel will be trying.

Casey Stengel

The Yankee flannels will have to be cut off the old outfielder.

-:-

STENGEL RETURNED from the minors the greatest juggler in the history of the business. He had 100 different batting orders in a season, conclusively demonstrated the effectiveness of platoons.

Connie Mack always said that, provided the manager had the personnel, it was no trick for a championship club to repeat.

"The third pennant is the tough one," pointed out the Athletics' Grand Old Man. "That's when complacency sets in."

But George Weiss didn't have to peddle Vic Raschi to stamp self-satisfaction out of the Yankees. Not with Stengel in the pilot house.

In Chicago, the night before the Indians applied the coup de grace in Cleveland, Stengel, 63, bawled out the 22-year-old Mickey Mantle in the dugout for not hustling.

Casey Stengel, you see, was with the have-nots much too long not to pour it on when he had a winner.

Giant Infield Seen Smoother Than Indians'

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, with a solid defensive performer at each position, will take a smoother working and healthier infield than Cleveland into the 51st World Series next week.

With Whitey Lockman, Davey Williams, Alvin Dark and Hank Thompson, the newly-crowned National League champions rate the edge over the Indians' quartet of Vic Wertz, Bobby Avila, George Strickland and Al Rosen. Only at shortstop where Strickland is considered a shade the better fielder than Dark does Cleveland shine.

That's defensively. At the bat, the Giants' infielders cannot match the power of Wertz and Rosen or the consistency of Avila, the American League's leading batter.

Whether Rosen physically will be at his peak is questionable. The latest report has Al's fractured finger of mid-June thoroughly healed. But he's now suffering from multiple ills—a charley horse in his right thigh, calcium deposits in his left foot and muscle spasms in his back. He'll be ready for the opener in the Polo Grounds next Wednesday. But how ready?

Strickland, too, may pose a problem for Manager Al Lopez. Only two weeks recovered from a broken jaw, George has batted .095 since his return to the lineup with only 4 hits in 42 at bats.

At first base, there's little to choose between Lockman and Wertz. Both are converted outfielders, but Whitey made the switch in 1951, the Giants' last pennant-winning campaign and Vic shifted in June of this year, shortly after his acquisition from Baltimore. Wertz is more of a home-run threat. Lockman, New York's leadoff hitter, is more consistent.

Avila, with a .336 batting mark to Williams' .295, is the better hitter by far. Davey's strength lies in his ground-covering and pivot-making abilities, no small facor in the Giants' pennant drive. Avila, too, has improved considerably in the field this season.

Dark, with 186 hits and a .295 batting average, presents a hit-and-run threat in the No. 2 spot in New York's hitting order. Strickland is hitting .215 for the year.

Off his Most Valuable Player performance of 1953, Rosen has had a disappointing season. His .300 average sprinkled with 24 home runs and 101 runs batted in is nothing to sneeze at. But last year, he hit .336 with 43 circuit blows and 145 RBI's.

Thompson, the Giants' third base man, is a first-rate glove man. He's come on strong the last month and currently shows 26 homers and 86 runs batted in.

Both clubs have versatile infield reserves.

TO BUILD TRUCK TERMINAL

CLEVELAND (AP)—A three-million-dollar truck terminal to be completed by Nov. 15 of next year will be started soon at the intersection of Ohio 17 and U.S. 21, contractor Sam C. Lombardo said today. Five buildings on a 50-acre site 10 miles north of an Ohio Turnpike interchange will make the project one of the biggest of its kind in the midwest, Lombardo said.

Buying or Selling a Home?

SEE A REALTOR!

When you consult a Realtor, his judgment and experience are yours to command. He can save you time, money, work and worry. But remember, not every real estate man is a Realtor — for this title can be used only by those who have earned it and accepted the obligation of their profession's strict Code of Ethics. So remember — buying or selling, you're safe when you deal with a REALTOR.

Study Of Squid Fish May Reveal More On Human Nerves, Improve Electric Equipment

(Third of a Series)

Editor's Note—From the jet-propelled squid scientists hope to learn how nerves work—both to treat human ailments better and improve electronic equipment. Here is the third story on unusual studies at a massachusetts laboratory).

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—Messages speeding along your nerves are part of the wondrous machinery by which you can read these words. Or light a cigarette, or lift your fork.

But exactly how do nerves work; Where do they get their electric energy?

This secret is being tackled at the Marine Biological Laboratory here, where each summer 450 scientists and students work to fathom a host of nature's puzzles. Here where waters of the warm Gulf Stream and cold Labrador current meet, the sea supplies a rich variety of marine life as tools to study the engines of life.

A curious jet-propelled fish, the squid, is a perfect tool for the nerve studies directed by Dr. Kenneth S. Cole of the Naval Research, Institute, Bethesda, Md.

From the squid he takes the large main nerve, the axon. In life, the axon is part of the nerve control system of the squid's jet action.

The squid, a fish 10 to 16 inches long, commonly used as bait and seafood, sucks in water and squirts it out through a special tube behind its head. It can point the tube backward for sudden forward jet speed, or flip the tube to go scooting backward. It can use the tube as a jet brake while it's in forward or reverse motion.

The squid axon is a long nerve, but no thicker than a half dozen threads interwined. Still it is large enough so a tiny electrode can be inserted inside to measure electric currents or potentials. The electrode detects activity when a small electric current is applied.

Scientists here and elsewhere have cracked part of the mystery of how nerves carry their signals.

The current along nerves does not consist of electrons, as in an ordinary electric wire. nerve current is generated by electrically-charged atoms—ions—of sodium and potassium.

When a nerve is resting, there are more potassium ions inside the nerve than outside. There are a lot more sodium ions outside than inside. Sea water and all body fluids are rich in sodium, which is part of ordinary salt.

In the resting nerve, the electric potential inside the nerve is smaller than that outside the nerve.

But when the nerve is stimulated—by a message from the brain, by pain, or an electric stimulus applied to the squid axon—there is a lightning-fast interchange of ions from outside to inside.

Sodium ions come pouring in through the nerve membrane, and supply the energy for transmitting the message. Potassium ions start flowing outside.

The electrical potential changes in a wave-like motion along the length of the nerve, and the wave movement carries the message.

When the current has passed, the original balance between sodium and potassium ions is restored, and the nerve is ready within a few thousandths of a second to send another message.

Dr. Cole and associates are engaged in difficult experiments and measurements to learn precisely what controls this flow of ions. What kind of "valve" is at work? Is it some potent chemical, an enzyme perhaps?

The objective is to learn how a normal nerve works. That might bring important knowledge for treating human nervous ailments or preserving normal health longer, or for improved electronic equipment. No one can easily foretell what uses may come later from discovery of basic facts.

Scores of similar projects engage scientists and graduate students working in 145 well-equipped laboratory benches and rooms at the Marine Biological Laboratory (MBL).

As an example, what happens when a sperm cell fertilizes an egg cell? How does the egg change to permit entry py only one sperm? Dr. Arthur K. Parpart Princeton University, vice president of MBL, is using sea urchins in this study.

Can fish or other forms of marine life supply new antibiotics against human disease? What happens in the murky dtpths of the sea to destroy or promote the life of food-giving fishes and crustaceans?

For science the world is full of unanswered questions.

The laboratory gives scientists a chance for summer work to continue researches already under way at their own universities or to begin some new line of questioning, on animals or plants not available in their home laboratories.

MBL is a nonprofit corporation with 400 scentist members—mostly university biologists—who elect 32 trustees. Scientists apply to work here, paying $250 to $300 for laboratory facilities, $5 a week for room, and $15 weekly per person for tasty meals in the mess hall.

Many make financial sacrifices to pursue their research in summer. Many bring their wives and children. Many are young graduate students, and thus romance is no stranger in this center of science.

"The lab is sometimes called a matrimonial agency — there's a saying that most marriages are made in Heaven, or Woods Hole," laughed Dr. Philip B. Armstrong, MBL director from the State University of New York Medical Center, Syracuse. Dr. Armstrong met his wife here.

Famous professors teach summer courses in physiology and biochemistry. Lights often burn late at night in laboratories.

Fees paid by scientists cover only 40 per cent of the lab's costs. A million dollar endowment brings income, but another million is needed. Grants from such organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation, American Cancer Society, Office of Naval Research and National Science Foundation supply funds. So do contributions from individuals.

Scientists, dressing informally, look for facts and resst the daily lure of beaches and sailboats.

Here science looks to the sea—from which man came by evolutionary theory — to learn more about man and nature.

Woman Beaten In Mistaken Attack

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — A 38-year-old housewife was slashed and beaten in the pre-dawn darkness early Tuesday by an attacker who said in shocked surprise:

"My God, I've got the wrong person!"

The woman, hospitalized after her few brief moments of terror, is Mrs. Mildred Merritt.

She told police she opened her front door to a knock, expecting her son-in-law. Instead, an intruder clubbed her with his forearm and slashed her arms and legs with a sharp instrument.

Mrs. Merritt said he let loose a string of profanity in which he called her a "dirty pipeliner." She said she had boarded men working on a gas pipeline several weeks ago.

When she screamed, her assailant turned the beam of his flashlight in her face, then said he had the wrong person.

But, instead of fleeing, Mrs. Merritt told police, he demanded money and warned her to remain quiet or he would kill her "baby." She gave him an undetermined amount of cash.

The only other person in the house was her son, Tommy, 11, who slept through the incident.

Three Salem industrialists are on the board of trustees of the Industrial Information Institue which will hold is annual dinner meeting Oct. 5 at Youngsown Country Club.

They are George W. Baillie, vice president of Quaker City Foundry, whose term on institute will expire in 1955; K. U. Wirtz, president of Electric Furnace Co. (1956) and Mullins Mfg. Corp., 1957.

Trustees will elect officers at the annual meeting.

Questions, Answers On Social Security

The following are typical questions and answers to social security problems, furnished by Social Security Field Representatives Robert P. King and John Welker at the Salem Postoffice.

Q. I began receiving social security payments about a year ago. What must I do to receive the increase voted in this year's amendments?

A. You need take no action. Benefit payments for September (mailed about Oct. 3) will include these increases.

Q. Will people who file in the future receive the increased rate?

A. Yes.

Q. Will everyone on the rolls receive this increase

A. No. In a few cases where two or more other members of the family of a retred worker are receiving payments, the maximum provision may pevent an increase to the dependents. But even in the cases, the increase granted to the wage earner will result in a larger total payment to the family.

Q. How much will the increases amount to?

A. Retired workers who have been drawing $25.00 monthly will start collecting $30.00 a month, the new minimum retirement payment. Retirement payments up to $60 will be increased $5.00. Those who have been receiving exactly $70 will begin to receive $78.50, $80 is increased to $91.80 and $85 becomes $98.50, the present maximum payment to a retired worker.

Q. According to the newspapers, there's going to be a maximum of $108.50. When does this start?

A. The eventual maximum retirement payment of $108.50 is based on average covered earnings of $350 a month. This will not be possible until mid-1956, when workers who are 65 will have had an opportunity to pay social security taxes for at least a year and a half on the new wage base of $4200, which starts in 1955. Those reaching 65 after that time will be able to qualify if they have covered earnings of at least $4,200 every year up to their 65th birthday.

Q. And will payments to dependants and survivors continue to be based on the workers's payments?

A. Yes. Subject to the limitations imposed by the maxmum amount payable on the particular Social Security account involved, payments to dependents and survivors will be increased proportionally. There are two special provisions which provide exceptions to this general rule, however. One guarantees that where a retired worker and wife are the only beneficiaries the wife's payment will be at least one-half the worker's increased payment, regardless of the maximum provisions. The other provides that for a single survivor (child, aged widow or widower, or dependent parent) who is receiving payments, the payment will not be less than $30.00.

Q. What is the new maximum payment for a family?

A. Maximum payments to a family beginning for the month of September will be $200, instead of the present $168.75.
